

JUMPING SPIDER

Care Guide

Jumping spiders (Salticidae) are intelligent, curious, and full of personality. With their excellent vision, playful behavior, and easy care requirements, they make incredible pets for all experience levels.

ABOUT JUMPING SPIDERS

- ✔ Over 6,000 species worldwide
- ✔ Known for their intelligence and excellent vision
- ✔ Active hunters with playful behavior
- ✔ Recognize faces and interact with their environment
- ✔ Best kept individually
- ✔ Great for beginners!

HABITAT SETUP

- VERTICAL SPACE
Use taller enclosures rather than wide ones. Height is key!
- PLANTS & CLIMBING
Provide live or artificial plants, vines, and branches for climbing and exploring.
- HIDES & SHELTER
Add cork bark, leaf litter, webs, and small hides for security and retreats.

WATER CONDITIONS

- 💧 Use dechlorinated water
- 💧 Mist lightly 1-2 times per day
- 💧 Keep humidity 50-70%
- 💧 Provide a small water dish with pebbles or sponge
- 💧 Good airflow is important to prevent mold

TEMPERATURE & HUMIDITY

🌡️ Temperature:
70-82°F (21-28°C)

💧 Humidity:
50-70%

Use a hygrometer to monitor levels.

DIET

Live prey is essential.

- Fruit flies (ideal staple)
- Pinhead crickets
- Small roaches
- Springtails
- Mealworms (occasionally)

Feed 2-3 times per week.
Remove uneaten prey.

SOCIAL BEHAVIOR

Keep individually.

Jumping spiders are solitary and can be territorial toward other spiders.

Handle gently and minimize stress for the best experience.

QUICK TIPS

- ✔ Do not over-mist or soak the enclosure
- ✔ Maintain good airflow
- ✔ Avoid direct sunlight or heat lamps
- ✔ Offer a varied diet
- ✔ Provide enrichment with plants and hides
- ✔ Observe and enjoy their amazing behavior!

CREATE A THRIVING HABITAT

A naturalistic enclosure with plenty of climbing opportunities, secure hides, and the right humidity will keep your jumping spider healthy, active, and curious. The more enriched their environment, the more you'll see their incredible personality!
